The Greek government, Ministry of Environment, Physical Planning and Public Works, has provided substantial funds (approximately 100K EURO) to launch the network. Expenses for the first three months of operation can be covered with this money.