

September 23rd-26th, 2009, Plitvice Lakes, Croatia

The objective of the international interdisciplinary scientific conference Sustainability of the karst environment - Dinaric karst and other karst regions is to give a theoretical and practical contribution to the concept of sustainable development in karst regions, with a special emphasis on the experiences achieved in the Dinaric karst region.

The conference itself will be held at the Plitvice Lakes (World Heritage Site), one of the most fascinating phenomena on Earth.

UNESCO Chair INWEB will contribute to the presentation of the GEF project on the Dinaric karst.
