

15th -16th December 2011, Marseille, France

The FEMISE annual conference gathers members' institutes and affiliates from the North and South of the Mediterranean to address and exchange views on issues related to the EU-Med Partnership and Neighbourhood policies and their effects on the economic and social aspects of the Mediterranean Partners countries. In this critical era for the region, the speakers will build on accumulated knowledge and the experience of transition in other regions, share actual experiences on the ground and make suggestions regarding the role of the EU partnership in supporting the transition process.

INWEB coordinator Prof. Jacques Ganoulis will contribute his experience as a source of information on the most recent research done in the EU-Med region.
